Experienced litigator representing clients in commercial disputes and complex tort litigation. Guiding clients through high-stakes litigation with clarity, precision, and care.

Leslie Dean is a commercial litigator representing clients across Florida in complex disputes and tort litigation. An adaptable and flexible practitioner known for her detail and discretion, Leslie collaborates with clients in matters involving insurance defense and coverage, bankruptcy, construction, mortgage foreclosure, personal injury, professional liability, real property and title, and unfair competition and trade practices. Her sector expertise includes banking and finance, insurance, real estate, and transportation, among others.

Leslie has extensive experience in all aspects of legal advocacy and procedure. Clients turn to her for her pragmatic approach, solution-oriented legal research and writing skills, and zealous advocacy. She provides sound guidance and efficient counsel during the pre-trial phases to manage litigation, ensure proper record-keeping, and preserve issues for appeal. Prior to attending law school, Leslie worked as a certified legal assistant for 15 years, practicing in the areas of complex tort and commercial litigation in both Florida and Texas. She is highly attuned to the technical aspects of case management, which informs her diverse commercial practice.

Prior to joining GrayRobinson, Leslie practiced mass-tort litigation in Texas and served in the Harris County District Attorney's Post-Conviction Writ Department. She routinely collaborates with GrayRobinson colleagues in the corporate, construction, and real estate practices to provide full-service litigation support for clients.
