GRAYROBINSON

Taylor A. Col

Associate

taylor.col@gray-robinson.com
352.415.6767

Focus

- Intellectual Property and Technology
- Copyrights
- Healthcare
- Patents
- Technology Transactions
- Trademarks

Technology-focused Intellectual Property attorney with sharp analytical skills. Translates complex concepts into practical, actionable legal guidance.

Taylor Col is a registered patent attorney in the GrayRobinson Gainesville office. He advises clients on intellectual property, technology, and healthcare matters, including patent and trademark prosecution, copyrights, transactions, regulatory compliance, and related strategies for protecting and enforcing the rights of creators, innovators, and business owners. His work spans strategic research, precise drafting, and thoughtful analysis designed to help clients capitalize on their assets while safeguarding their innovations.

Taylor's technical background, grounded in prior roles in the engineering sector, enhances his ability to quickly understand the technologies central to many IP matters. He evaluates technical materials with clarity and provides focused, reliable insights that support effective legal strategy.

Insights

- "Global Patent Filings," UF Innovate Lunch and Learn, April 1, 2026

Credentials

- J.D., University of Florida College of Law, 2025
  - Journal of Technology Law and Policy, Executive Copy Editor
- M.Eng., University of Florida, 2019
- B.S.Ch.E., University of Florida, 2018, cum laude

Admissions

- Florida
- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office