Trade Secret, Noncompete and Unfair Competition

Most businesses have trade secrets and/or confidential proprietary business information which needs to be protected through the utilization of restrictive covenants, nondisclosure agreements and/or confidentiality agreements. GrayRobinson attorneys are well equipped to assist in protecting this vital information, which can be essential to a business's success. Our professionals are well versed in unfair competition laws, non-competition and/or non-solicitation disputes as well as litigation under the Florida Trade Secrets Act and the Federal Defend Trade Secrets Act. We draft employment and independent contractor agreements containing all manner of restrictive covenants and confidentiality agreements narrowly tailored to each client's specific needs. This area of practice often requires immediate and decisive action to protect a client's interests. Because these matters often involve significant consequences, we are prepared to counsel and assist clients at a moment's notice, including prosecuting or defending restrictive covenant and trade secret litigation throughout Florida.
